

ElonDragon Collaborates With RocketLeague Token To Launch A New Module For Token Holders

It is looking like the coming together of two disruptive projects in the cryptocurrency industry and blockchain technology space as ElonDragon and Rocket League Token collaborate to unlock unique benefits for their holders. The ELONDRAGON token remains one of the most attractive utility tokens in the cryptocurrency space, with the ELONDRAGON reward trading platform further endearing the digital currency to millions of crypto enthusiasts worldwide. The ecosystem is particularly unique, with the developers handing over the ownership to the global trading community amidst new solutions coming to the BSC blockchain and pancakeswap.

The new module coming forth as a result of the partnership will automatically reward faithful holders of ELONDRAGON tokens, helping them increase their holding for every trading transaction that occurs. 65% of the total supply of 100,000,000,000,000,000 tokens has already been burned to increase the value of the token. This leaves only 35,000,000,000,000,000 tokens in circulation, with plans to continue burning them.

The Elondragon ecosystem is particularly unique as every sale and purchase transaction adds to the value of the token and ultimately rewards holders of the token. The module will serve as a new source of income generation for holders, leveraging the Pancakeswap technology and transaction system to help users and token holders bypass the highly technical tactics required to easily access personal finances in their digital money wallets

There are currently more than 7% of ELONDRAGON tokens, approximately around 7,808,584,888,808,730 tokens still available in the liquidity pool for new holders. The number of tokens in the liquidity pool is expected to reduce with time, decreasing the overall circulating supply, amplifying the scarcity of coded digital assets, and ultimately supporting long-term value for new and existing token holders.

In addition to supporting these new assets, ELONDRAGON tokens are also processing listings to Coinmarketcap and Coingecko to open wider opportunities for new and old digital asset holders who are familiar with coded digital asset technology.
